

TENDERING READINESS ASSESSMENT

How ready are you?

The preparation required to achieve sustained bidding success is often understated and unseen. Winning consistently requires the careful and purposeful integration of many parts of an organisation – well in advance of the actual writing efforts.

Reflecting on your organisation's current bidding processes, do you:

- really know what best practice tendering looks like?
- clearly understand how critical tendering components interact?
- have key stakeholder agreement about your level of tendering readiness?
- have a clear plan to increase your probability of winning (P-Win)?

Get your fundamentals right with BidWrite

For more than 15 years we've helped hundreds of organisations win thousands of tenders worth billions of dollars. We know that good tendering requires excellence across five key areas.

Our three-step Tendering Readiness Assessment provides you with an objective evaluation of your current readiness across these five areas, accompanied by an actionable plan designed to prepare you for best practice bidding. This substantially improves your likelihood of winning the contracts that matter on a more consistent basis.

TENDERING READINESS ASSESSMENT

How ready are you?

Step 1

Data Collection

Using our purpose-built question set, you self-assess your bidding readiness by rating your current performance across the five key areas defined above. The observe stage will empower your team to be part of the improvements they identify.
